

Harlequin quail

Coturnix delegorguei

- + This bird is a very small member of the pheasant family, found across southern Africa
- + They live in grassland savannahs where they feed on small grass seeds foraged on the ground
- + They are a fast maturing species, and hens will often start laying eggs by 10 weeks of age

HAREWOOD
BIRD GARDEN

Size (cm):	16
Weight (g)	60
Intelligence:	10
Lifespan (years):	8
Risk of Extinction:	1 (LC)
Bird Wow Factor:	77

Snowy owl

Bubo scandiacus

- + One of the most famous snowy owls is Harry Potter's owl, Hedwig
- + These birds have bright white feathers to help them blend in with their snowy surroundings
- + They have thick feathers covering their feet which protect them from the cold and bites from their prey

HAREWOOD
BIRD GARDEN

Size (cm):	70
Weight (g)	2000
Intelligence:	10
Lifespan (years):	28
Risk of Extinction:	3 (VU)
Bird Wow Factor:	205

Luzon bleeding heart dove

Gallicolumba luzonica

- + Bleeding heart doves are named after the striking patch of red feathers on the breast, which looks like a 'bleeding heart'
- + There are five species of bleeding heart doves in total, each from a different island in the Philippines
- + This particular species is only found on the island of Luzon

HAREWOOD
BIRD GARDEN

Size (cm):	28
Weight (g)	135
Intelligence:	10
Lifespan (years):	25
Risk of Extinction:	2 (NT)
Bird Wow Factor:	136

Northern helmeted curassow

Pauxi pauxi

- + This bird has a strange call, making a prolonged, low-pitch grunting sound
- + They are big, heavy birds and their flight is slow and laboured, so they spend most of their time on the ground
- + Due to loss of habitat, there are less than 2,500 individuals left in the wild

HAREWOOD
BIRD GARDEN

Size (cm):	100
Weight (g)	3500
Intelligence:	10
Lifespan (years):	25
Risk of Extinction:	4 (EN)
Bird Wow Factor:	217